A NOTE FROM THE CULTURAL TEAM

Once again, the AFK is back with the bi-monthly cultural programme! Our November–December publication has a special flavour as it is our last cultural brochure of the year 2022! To all our national and international readers, we request you to take your time and explore the different sections in order to add a bonus of information to your general knowledge!

After a hectic 2021 due to team changes and the Covid crisis, 2022 has been the year for AFK to bounce back! Indeed, once the health situation stabilized, our position in the arts and language sector was revived and our team more motivated. We are very proud and happy of what we could bring to the artists, French learners, and the general public in 2022.

More than 90 events have been organised, more than 400 artists programmed, dozens of partnerships created, more than 2500 people welcomed, a performance hall and a café–restaurant created, 2022 has been quite dynamic.

We want to end this year in style, with a festive and diversified programme, always with the development of Ugandan artists in mind, thinking together and of course celebrating! Hence, a place has been reserved for the promotion and broadcasting of Ugandan artists, musically with concerts by Eli Maliki, Izabel Ug and Jackson Kalimba, and also in the world of cinema with Ann Nansanga (Afric) who will showcase Ugandan short films.

Jointly with our partners, we have built the Kampala Geopolitics Conference programme, which will bring together the best minds to reflect on the challenges of our time. These reflections are also driven by exhibitions and readings in our Library.

We could also not afford to miss the French national team matches not only to celebrate the universality of sport but also to reflect on the stakes of this FIFA World Cup in Qatar.

The AFK is a place for all ages, all cultures, all disciplines. Do not hesitate to contact us to propose projects, rent our premises or simply to inquire about our activities. See you in 2023!

EXHIBITION ON BATWA COMMUNITIES

6PM on the 4th of November - Opening Event

Goethe-Zentrum Kampala
Alliance Française Kampala

Plot 52 Bukoto St, Kampala

The aim of this exhibition is to bear witness to the Batwa cultures by showing their way of life and culture through photos collected in the communities.

Kampala Geopolitics Conference

15TH NOVEMBER
16TH MAKERERE
UNIVERSITY

The Kampala Geopolitics Conference is an academic public event discussing current geopolitical trends and hot topics. Initiated in 2018 by the Embassy of France in Uganda.

After five successful years, the conference has become a regional flagship bearer for Geopolitical debates. By complimenting global conversations with regional and African perspectives, the conference sets the course for balanced discourse and places sustainable development, global peace and international cooperation in the limelight.

Activities run by AFK :

Within the framework of the Kampala Geopolitics Conference, AFK has organised activities [a photo exhibition on the Batwa people as well as a traditional dance performance] in conjunction with the Engero project which aims to protect the Batwa people living in the Great Lakes region and to preserve their culture.

A detailed programme will be soon communicated on our social network sites.

Eli Maliki is a Kenyan Ugandan soul-fusion artist with a drive to inspire. His mellow tone will subdue any worries in your soul to reach a space of tranquility full of love, ease, peace, and self-empowerment. Eli Maliki fuses sounds of his African heritage with fresh soulful sounds and lyrics that come from and move the heart. His first album “HEY” released on the 25th of September 2015 enchanted the ears and soul with pure live sounds created by this multi-talented musician and producer. Following the release of “HEY”, Eli Maliki toured and played at festivals such as Sauti za Busara, Zanzibar International Film Festival, and Blankets & Wine Uganda and European tours in 2016 and 2017.

After a break from recorded music, Eli Maliki is releasing the next phase of his artistry in November 2022 with “Maliki-fy”, a 6 track EP which features a more upbeat sound, still with the soulful touch that is Eli Maliki.
